

Bob Shivers, manager of the Third District Stock Show, told me last night he heard this one from the Senator Clyde Byrd of El Dorado:

The breweries are on strike in Milwaukee, but at least one beer dealer in St. Louis is having his troubles too.

This dealer's name is August. Early last week August got a notice from his wholesaler that effective July 1 the price of beer would be increased. The next day brought a letter from his landlord saying he went to go up July 1. And the day after that his insurance agency advised the fire rate would advance July 1.

Last Saturday the beer dealer put this sign in his window:
"July 1st will be the last of August."

The continuing dry weather here for the second consecutive summer lends emphasis to something The Star has mentioned previously — that the No. 1 long-range goal of Hope and southwest Arkansas should be a water supply based on one of our rivers, rather than depending completely on deep wells.

Depletion of the water-bearing sands is a spectre that constantly threatens much of the continental United States. The table of water levels for eastern Arkansas has been dropping under the heavy demands made by hundreds of rice-irrigation wells. I don't know that there is any specific threat hanging over Hope's municipal wells, but it is rather obvious that the lack of access to some big body of surface water is a serious roadblock against our town's expansion.

Hope is not alone in this dilemma. There is a water problem in Texarkana, Nashville, Prescott, and Magnolia. I understand Texarkana has been given a small allotment of water from the Sulphur river reservoir now nearing completion, but it is unlikely that this is sufficient for the city's needs in the future — not to mention the demands of the trade territory if farmers should turn seriously to irrigation.

Your editor has had a number of conversations with Louis Graves, editor-publisher of the Nashville News, on the water crisis in the Howard county-seat town, and Mr. Graves is preaching not only expansion of the municipal water supply but on a scale big enough to accommodate farm irrigation. Irrigation tests are under way to a limited extent now in both Howard and northern Hempstead counties.

It seems to me this would be a good time for Hope Chamber of Commerce to sound out our neighbors about a long-range program to set up a southwest Arkansas water district, probably with the federal government furnishing the dam and the cities purchasing water rights and building pipelines.

This isn't any peanut proposition. The Millwood dam project on Little river near Saratoga is dormant for lack of federal funds, and will continue so unless (1) the government gets its budget out of the red, or (2) some water district is formed to assure partial underwriting of the dam's cost or maintenance.

Last report I had on the Millwood project before it was put back in the Corps of Engineers' dead-letter file was that it would cost around 45 million dollars. And any pipeline worth building at all between Hope and the Millwood dam site would certainly cost our town one or two million dollars.

But does water have a price? You're not going anywhere without it. So dollars don't really matter. Some time ago The Star withdrew its editorial support of the Millwood dam owing to the worsening financial picture in Washington and the continuance of high federal taxation. But we're for the Millwood project if it will mean direct benefits for the cities and farmers of southwest Arkansas, and providing they are serious enough about getting those benefits to organize a water district and assure the federal government of some maintenance money from the sale of water rights after Millwood dam is built.

Demo Leader to Fight Procedure of Tax Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Democratic leadership today threw its influence against the Eisenhower administration's tactics of bypassing the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee in its battle to get extension of the excess profits tax.

Acting Democratic Leader M. C. McCormack (Mass.) served notice he would make a fight of it — on the basis of objections to the procedure — when the issue comes to the House floor, probably Monday.

Nevertheless, House Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) predicted overwhelming Republican support and certain victory for President Eisenhower in an expected bruising floor battle.

"Only a very small number of Republicans will fail to support the President," he predicted. "If Democrats vote against the rule, (the proposal to take the tax bill up by extraordinary procedure), they will be in the position of joining these few Republicans in denying a House vote on the issue and defeating the financial program of the administration."

Most of the Democrats are informally on record for extension of the tax itself. But there is strong sentiment against putting aside traditional procedure and following what Republican Leader Halleck (Ind.) has conceded is a "rough" tactic.

Death Ends Career of Sen. Smith

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Willis Smith (D-NO.), a strapping six-footer who won his Senate seat in 1950 in one of North Carolina's most heated political battles, died today at nearby Bethesda, Md., hospital. He was 65.

Death was attributed to coronary thrombosis. He had suffered a heart attack early Tuesday and his family was at his bedside when he died, his administrative assistant, Jesse Helms, said.

He died about 4:40 a. m. EST. Smith, a self-styled conservative, defeated Sen. Frank Graham, a noted liberal, in a hot fight, pegging his campaign on a platform of opposition to some of former President Harry Truman's "Fair Deal" proposals.

India Would Call Special UN Meeting

By STANLEY JOHNSON
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Over strong U.S. opposition, India tried today to line up support from a majority of the 60 United Nations for an immediate U.N. General Assembly session on the Korean truce hurdle.

Indian Prime Minister Nehru told newsmen in Cairo it was time for the U.N. to "make it perfectly clear that the U.N. Command is master of the situation and nobody else — not President Syngman Rhee."

Many diplomats here agreed, however, that the U.S. opposition would prevent any Assembly meeting until the Americans are ready for it.

Some observers speculated that Nehru's call for the session, made in a cable yesterday to Assembly President Lester B. Pearson of Canada, was the Premier's way of pressuring Rhee to agree to a Korean armistice.

One Problem Ike Will Face in Big Three Conference Is Coral Wonderland of Bermuda

By HAL BOYLE
HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — An open letter to President Eisenhower:

Dear Ike: When you come to Bermuda next month for the Big Three conference you are going to run into one big problem that isn't on the program.

That problem will be how to keep your mind on international woods in a coral wonderland where nobody was meant to worry and few people feel like arguing. Coming to this island paradise with a problem is like bringing your mother-in-law along on a honeymoon.

World politics could hardly find a pleasanter beachhead and if I were one of the statesmen I would tell the others:

Ike Renews Criticism of Book Burners

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Eisenhower, in a letter read today to the American Library Association criticized "calots" who would deny "freedom's friends the opportunity of studying Communism in its entirety — its plausibilities, its falsities, its weaknesses."

And it is an ancient truth that freedom cannot be legislated into existence, so it is no less obvious that freedom cannot be censored into existence," the President wrote. "And any who act as if freedom's defenses are to be found in suppression and suspicion and fear confess a doctrine that is alien to America."

The President's message was read to the 4,000 librarians attending the 72nd annual conference of the American Library Association by its president, Robert B. Downs.

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Department disclosure that all copies of some 300 books have been banned from U. S. information libraries overseas brought new demands today for more details.

Dr. Robert L. Johnson, head of the information program, and two aides told a news conference yesterday that U.S. prestige abroad has been hurt to some extent by cries of "book burning."

They said the department, having banned any further listing of the books, is now sweating out a new directive to end admitted confusion over purging of real or alleged Communist books.

Authorities here do not know how many titles, aside from the 300 have been removed by individual librarians abroad, battered by series of 10 directives during the past five months.

Less than a dozen of the books removed from the shelves have been burned, and instructions have gone out that no book is to be burned or destroyed. The books instead are being stored.

These and other bits of information came out at the news conference held, after weeks of newsmen's demands, by Johnson, Richard Humphrey, director of the library operation, and Ben Crosby, public relations officer of the International Information Administration.

Johnson, in an opening statement, said existing instructions on eliminating books by Communists to those who "follow the Communist line of participating in Communist front organizations" had "led to confusion in the field." He said new instructions are being prepared to govern the twilight zone, as he called it.

Johnson said some librarians may have removed books never intended to be hit by the orders.

The 188 libraries are those the government operates in 63 countries. The idea is to provide free books, magazines and other publications as one means to give native readers a true picture of life in this country.

No Trace Found of Kidnapped Legislator

CHICAGO (AP) — A state legislator was kidnapped near his home two weeks ago and police, in an intensive state-wide hunt, have found no trace of him or his abductors.

Police have established no motive for the abduction of Clem Graver, 35-year-old Republican state representative and 21st Ward committeeman. There have been no demands for ransom.

Police have few, if any, clues. They have described the case as one of the most baffling in Chicago crime.

Six persons, including Graver's wife, witnessed the kidnapping. Graver, in politics all his adult life, was snatched by three men who followed him in a car as he drove into his garage about 10 p.m. June 11.

Other morning stops were on watermelon and cucumber breeding and tomato varieties, manned by Dr. V. M. Watts, head of the Horticulture Department at the University, and on oat varieties and castor bean production, manned by assistant professor of agronomy R. L. Thurman. At a fourth stop, members of the State Forestry and Parks Commission and associate professor F. M. Meade of the University staff demonstrated various types of hand-operated fire fighting equipment.

Demonstration were given from 11 a.m. until 1 p.m. Mrs. Crystol C. Tenborge, Extension home management specialist, discussed Remodeled Kitchens, and members of the staff of Arkansas Power and Light Company demonstrated types of electrical pumps and water systems.

4-H club members taking part in the afternoon program included Nancy Frazier, of Washington; Mary Ann Morris of Miller County; Sue Keeley of Prescott, Sue Hall of Murfreesboro, Kay Kent, State 4-H song leader, three boys and three girls from Howard County, and a boy from Little River County. FFA talent numbers included a pantomime by Mary Henry and Joe Casey of Calhoun County, and songs by Janet Barr and Edith McElroy of Hope, and a number by a FFA member from Gordon.

Results of 4-Year-Tests on Laying Hens Highlight of Visiting Day Demonstrations

Laying hens kept in semi-confinement produced at about the same rate and cost as hens allowed free access to range, in a four-year test at the University of Arkansas' Fruit and Truck Branch Experiment Station. The same thing was true of the use of roosts in a one-year test; production of hens in houses without roosts was equal to that of hens who were in houses with regular roosts.

So Professor R. M. Smith of the Animal Industry Department at the University reported at the annual Family Study Day held at the Station today. In the trials, which lasted from 225 to 280 days, flocks of 40 hens were used in each pen. The birds on range had free access to an area about 60 by 100 feet in size; while those on semi-confinement were penned up until 2 in the afternoon and then given access to range until night. In tests at the Main Experiment Station, keeping hens in total confinement did not change either rate or cost of production significantly, Professor Smith reported.

How efficient production affects returns from laying hens was clearly shown in these trials. The highest production rate, of 64 per cent, was made by a pen of White Leghorns. Eggs laid by these hens cost 20 cents per dozen. A low figure of 33 per cent production was made by a flock of White Rocks in another year, and cost of production in that pen was 48 cents a dozen eggs, according to Professor Smith.

About 350 farm people from 16 Arkansas counties, plus visitors from Louisiana and Michigan attended the study day. The morning program was given over to a tour of research plots and to special demonstrations. In the afternoon, 4-H club members from Hempstead, Howard, Little River, Miller, Nevada and Pike counties, and FFA girls from Calhoun, Clark and Hempstead counties presented special talent numbers.

At one of the stops on the morning tour, Dr. J. L. Bowers of the Horticulture staff reported that in sweet potato varietal trials irrigated Allgold plots outyielded irrigated plots of Gold Rush sweet potatoes by about 100 bushels per acre. Gold Rush is a new variety recently released in Louisiana. Yields of Allgold were at the rate of 320 bushels per acre. Even in non-irrigated plots, Allgold yields were nearly double those of Gold Rush, or 180 bushels as compared to 90 bushels, Dr. Bowers stated.

Other morning stops were on watermelon and cucumber breeding and tomato varieties, manned by Dr. V. M. Watts, head of the Horticulture Department at the University, and on oat varieties and castor bean production, manned by assistant professor of agronomy R. L. Thurman. At a fourth stop, members of the State Forestry and Parks Commission and associate professor F. M. Meade of the University staff demonstrated various types of hand-operated fire fighting equipment.

FFA talent numbers included a pantomime by Mary Henry and Joe Casey of Calhoun County, and songs by Janet Barr and Edith McElroy of Hope, and a number by a FFA member from Gordon.

Cecil M. Bittle, assistant director of the station, was in charge of today's program. Assisting were other members of the station staff, specialists from the Station Agricultural Experiment Station of the University at Fayetteville, and members of the Agricultural Extension Service.

PARIS, (UP) — Moderate, conservative Joseph Laniel became premier of France today, ending the nation's longest post-war political crisis.

The French National Assembly approved the millionaire textile manufacturer and gave France a leader to meet with President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Winston Churchill in a big three conference in Bermuda on July 8.

Laniel, a political unknown, succeeded where nine other better known French political leaders either had failed to win a majority in the assembly or had found the situation so hopeless they refused even to try.

New Puppets in East Germany Speed Reforms

By TOM REEDY
BERLIN (AP) — East Germany's Russian puppet regime set up what looked like a substitute government today to speed sweeping reforms obviously designed to forestall further workers' rebellion against communism.

With apparent Soviet approval perhaps given him as a last chance to survive — the East zone's satellite Prime Minister Otto Grotewohl announced formation of a special "operative commission" with full power to initiate and drive through measures designed to cool the fires of revolt by improving the lot of the common man.

The commission's job — the Reds said its makeup and size were still being worked out — was in effect to spin East Germany's wretched economy back towards capitalism.

Preliminary plans made public by the Grotewohl Cabinet last night spelled the final collapse of the about communism drive that started last summer and rolled ahead relentlessly until it bumped squarely into the June 17 rebellion.

SEATTLE, (AP) — The Arkansas Highway Commission probably will decide this afternoon on whether to aid Crittenden County in a legal fight over proposed dismantling of the old Harahan Bridge across the Mississippi River.

Chairman Raymond Orr said the Commission also will discuss this afternoon a resolution asking that the Commission's retreat from its policy of giving priority for construction to areas where rights-of-way are furnished without cost to the state. The resolution was offered by the Arkansas County Judge Association.

The Commission chairman made both statements to Crittenden County Judge W. K. Ingram, who is president of the County Judges Association.

Ingram headed a delegation from his county seeking specific improvements and asked about the status of the other two matters after he had finished the presentation.

Crittenden County, on one hand, and the City of Memphis and the United States government, on the other are involved in a legal dispute over whether the old Harahan Bridge now replaced by a newer structure should be removed. The bridge spans the Mississippi River between Memphis and West Memphis, Ark.

The U. S. District Court of Appeals has ruled against removal and the County is planning to appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court.

13,000 Chinese Turned Back by Battling ROKs

By MILO FARNETT
SEOUL, (AP) — At least 13,000 Chinese Reds hit Allied lines on both ends of the Korean battlefield today but hard-fighting South Koreans hurled back most of 10,000 Communists who attacked eight strategic outposts in the West.

U. S. Sabres shot down two Communist MIG jets and damaged one in air battles over North Korea this afternoon.

The big-scale Red assault opened the fourth year of war on this battered peninsula.

Heavy fighting still raged on the East-Central Front where 3000 Communists attacked ROK positions near the junction of the Pukhan and Kumgang Rivers.

It was in this sector that 30,000 Chinese showed Allied lines back at least two miles two years ago in the biggest Red assault in two years.

The Eighth Army said the new attacks left U. S. and other foreign troops virtually untouched and concentrated on ROK positions.

The main weight of the Red assault fell on Allied lines blocking one of the old invasion routes to Seoul. But the Army said most of the Chinese were thrown back from eight important hill outposts west of Yoncheon in the Little North and Old Baldy sector.

Ike Considers Two Plans for Korean Action

By DONALD J. GONZALES
WASHINGTON, (UP) — President Eisenhower today weighed at least two fateful plans to end the Korean War even if Korean President Syngman Rhee carries out his threat to fight a truce.

Administration officials were tight-lipped on details of top secret strategy to cope with the still defiant Korean leader. But there were strong hints that American troops would stay on in Korea — a sign that they might be used to enforce an armistice regardless of what Rhee does.

U.S. strategists apparently believe that withdrawal of American and Allied forces, would lead inevitably to an smashing Communist military victory over Rhee's outnumbered forces.

This would throw away the lives and treasure already invested in the three-year fight against aggression and leave the Communists pointing a menacing spearhead at nearby Japan. Furthermore, it would mean that the largest anti-Communist force in the Far East — the South Koreans — had been sacrificed.

A group of bi-partisan senators who lunched with Mr. Eisenhower at the White House yesterday said the chief executive outlined "two or three alternatives" on how an armistice might be obtained and enforced if Rhee remained adamant despite the best American efforts to dissuade him from fighting on alone. But they would not reveal details.

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN
SEOUL, Saturday, (AP) — President Eisenhower's true "trouble-shooter" again this afternoon with President Syngman Rhee after disclosing in secret what the stubborn South Korean executive called "good ideas" on the Korean truce crisis.

Their first face-to-face talk yesterday — two hours and 45 minutes — produced hope for closing the deep U.S.-South Korea rift on armistice terms.

Walter S. Robertson, assistant U.S. secretary of state, delivered a secret message from Secretary of State John Foster Dulles after personal word from Eisenhower, presumably disclosing new possibilities to ease South Korea's bitter opposition to a truce.

After the meeting Rhee said: "Mr. Robertson has brought good ideas and our mutual understanding is being greatly improved."

Robertson told newsmen: "We hope we are making progress in removing misunderstandings."

Rails Want More to Haul U. S. Mail

WASHINGTON (AP) — The railroad industry today asked an increase of at least 45 per cent in payments for hauling the U.S. mails.

A petition for the rise was filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission only 24 hours after Postmaster General Summerhays appealed to Congress for a general postage-rate advance.

The Postoffice Department is running millions of dollars in the red each year and Summerhays asked the postage rate hike, including a boost from a cent to 1 1/2 cents for letter mail — to close part of the gap between revenue and spending.

Utilities Must Pay for Crossing Roads

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — The Arkansas Highway Commission today said that utilities and other agencies constructing lines across roads will be required to pay for any necessary cutting of highways and reconstruction.

The Commission said that the Highway Department would bear the cost in road construction of crossing all existing facilities of other agencies such as railroads, county roads, irrigation channels, pipe lines and so forth.

Road relocation made necessary by a establishment of reservoirs must be paid for by the agencies setting the reservoirs.

The policy was set out in a resolution adopted by the Commission to clarify who should bear the cost where roads cross other facilities or vice versa.

Director Herbert Eldridge told the Commission that some 3 million dollars of construction money available for the present fiscal year still was not contracted for but he said that he didn't think the situation was serious.

Eldridge said that the lag was caused by delays in programming during the transition from the former Commission to the present one.

Sees Billions in Oil for Education

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Sen. Paul H. Douglas said today the nation's schools may eventually get as much as $40,000,000,000 from the "oil-for-education" act approved by the Senate.

The Illinois Democrat said the exact amount of federal school aid would depend on how much oil, gas and other minerals are eventually taken from the ocean bottom lands of the continental shelf.

"It may run as high as $35,000,000,000 to $40,000,000,000 over a long period of time," he told a reporter.

He and Sen. Lister Hill (D-Ia) chief sponsor of the proposal, emphasized that it will be some time before the nation's schools begin to benefit from the measure. Oil production on the continental shelf is just getting underway in the Gulf of Mexico off Texas and Louisiana.

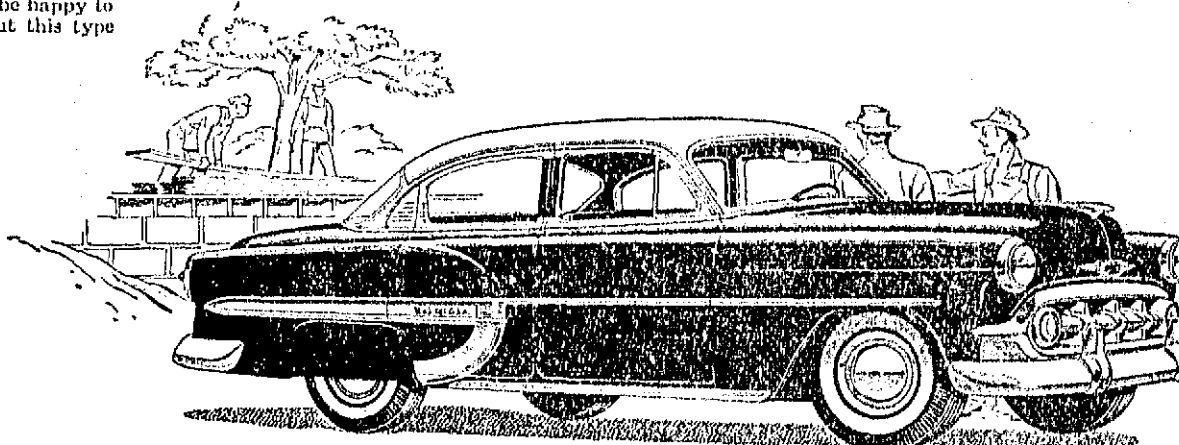

The Senate, by a 45 to 37 vote yesterday, tacked the oil-for-education amendment onto a federal oil leasing bill for the continental shelf. The ocean lands covered by the bill lie seaward of the so-called tidelands given to the states in a previous bill.

The Senate was called into session today in an effort to get a final vote on the measure by nightfall. Still pending were a number of amendments by coastal state senators who want their states to have the right to tax oil production on the federal lands.

Hill's proposal would set aside the government's share of the oil and gas revenue from the shelf—about one-eighth of the total value—for federal grants to states for primary, secondary and higher education.

● This advertisement is the third in a special series which began over a year ago, and which is designed to give you, as a prospective buyer, detailed and helpful information. We'd be happy to have your comments about this type of advertising.

This is the 1953 Chevrolet Bel Air 4-Door Sedan. It's one of 16 Chevrolet models in 3 series, which add up to the widest choice in the low-price field.

Some Chevrolet advantages worth considering when you're ready to choose a car...

Next to a new house, a car is probably your most important purchase. Here are some facts to help you make up your mind about which make to buy.

Don't you agree that it's well worthwhile to weigh all the factors carefully before you buy any new car? Let's consider the major reasons why people choose one make over another and see how the 1953 Chevrolet stands in those respects.

Styling You Can Stay Proud Of

Styling, of course, is a matter of personal taste. Because we think Chevrolet is the best-looking car in its field, doesn't necessarily mean you'll think so, too. But we can tell you that the majority of our showroom visitors prefer Chevrolet styling and compare its appearance most favorably with cars costing a great deal more.

And you might consider this: Chevrolet styling is the newest in its field. It's the kind of styling that stays new, too. For it is based, not on fads or extremes, but on the fundamentals of good, modern design.

The One Automobile Body Almost Everybody Knows

It's not really surprising that so many people prefer Chevrolet's appearance. For Chevrolet is the only low-priced car with Body by Fisher. And Fisher, as you know, is the only automobile body manufacturer with a world-wide reputation for styling, craftsmanship and quality.

The Many Benefits of High-Compression Power

When you drive a new Chevrolet (and we hope you'll do that soon), you'll notice these things: faster acceleration from a standing start; greater passing ability in traffic and on the highway; the new ease with which you climb steep hills.

These are just some of the benefits of Chevrolet's new high-compression power. In gearshift models, there is an advanced 108-h.p. "Thrill-King" engine with a 7.1 to 1 compression ratio. Teamed with the new Powerglide automatic transmission* is an entirely new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine with 7.5 to 1 compression ratio. It is the most powerful engine in Chevrolet's field.

A Great Gain in Gasoline Economy

Along with remarkable new performance, Chevrolet's advanced engines give you far greater gasoline mileage. In fact, this year marks the most important gain in economy in Chevrolet history. And that includes substantial savings on over-all upkeep, as well as on gasoline.

New Getaway in the New Powerglide*

The new Powerglide automatically drops into "Low" range for starting and for passing in city traffic. Then, as you glide along, it slips smoothly and almost imperceptibly into cruising range. The results are much faster and more positive acceleration, and much lower fuel consumption.

The First Power Steering in a Low-Priced Car

This year's Chevrolet is the only car in its field to offer you the extra ease and convenience of Power Steering, optional at extra cost. With it, you can spin the wheel with the strength of one finger. You can see-saw in and out of tight parking places without the slightest strain. You get an additional cushion against road shocks and jars. Driving is easier, safer.

A Smoother and a Safer Ride

Chevrolet is the heaviest low-priced car. Model for model, a Chevrolet will weigh as much as 200 pounds more than the other makes. You often hear people say they buy high-priced cars because they're heavier, hold the road better and ride better. Well, isn't it logical, then, that Chevrolet's extra weight (which comes from extra strength of body and frame) would result in a better ride?

Chevrolet is the Lowest-Priced Line

Certainly, price is one of the most important factors of all. We're glad to be able to tell you that Chevrolet is the lowest-priced line in its field.

Now, you might well ask, "How can Chevrolet offer me more and still cost less?" There is a simple, logical answer to that.

Remember that Chevrolet builds more cars than any other manufacturer. Chevrolet, along with General Motors, has greater facilities for research, for engineering and production. So, isn't it reasonable that these greater facilities bring manufacturing advantages and economies which Chevrolet can pass on to you in terms of higher quality at lower price?

An Endorsement Given No Other Car

Again this year, more people are buying Chevrolets than any other car. Obviously that wouldn't be true unless people liked Chevrolet better. Unless Chevrolet offered more things people want—more value.

So, when you're ready to choose your new car, wouldn't you agree that Chevrolet merits your careful consideration? We welcome your visit at any time, so that you can look the car over yourself and try it out on the road.

*Combination of 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine and Powerglide automatic transmission optional on "Two-Ten" and Bel Air models at extra cost.

Christianity MUST Win! CHRISTIANITY WILL WIN!

Browning was right when he said, "Grow old with me, the best is yet to be." It will be friend, if you head your life in the right direction. Me? My formula is simple. I try to give more than I get. I've seen a lot of life in my time... got a lot of friends. Most of them discuss their problems with me. And there is the church on the corner. One Sunday years ago a strange thing happened inside of me, and it made life worth living ever since... GOD. Been giving Him a dime out of every dollar since that day. Yes, sir, I'm rich. Not much money but haven't an enemy on earth. Trying to walk the straight and narrow way and getting others to go with you makes one feel downright good inside. I've seen a lot of life in my time and still have much to live for. I'm also ready to go when He calls. Are you ready to go? Are you at peace with God?
